

CTK Community Group Sermon Discussion Questions & Announcements
Week of 3/6/22

Sermon Discussion Questions | 1 Kings 21

The sermon called us to consider how we can practice a faith more like Naboth's — trusting in God even when we face consequences for doing so, because we believe the greatest danger has passed for us when we put our faith in Christ. It also invited us to consider how we can live more out of a 'steward' mindset. Let's talk about how God is calling us to live in these ways.

- What tends to cause stress in your life? Or what's stressful for you right now?
  - What feels hard about really living like the greatest danger of life has passed for you (if you believe in Jesus) in the face of that stress/stressful moment?
  - What might God be inviting you to let go of in that stress?
- What might you do differently if you really did live like the greatest danger of your life has passed and nothing can really touch you now?
  - What would it look like to start putting that into practice tomorrow or next week?
- What's an area of your life where you've lived more like an 'owner' of the gifts, resources, relationships or responsibilities God has given you, rather than a humble 'steward'?
  - How might it be a relief to see yourself as a 'steward' who can call on God for help, rather than as the owner who has to take care of it all?
  - What help will you need from God to live more like a 'steward'?
